Dear Donna,

For the past three years, the Verizon Foundation has been a proud sponsor of Enough Is Enough (EIE) and the Internet Safety 101: Empowering Parents program it developed. I want to express how pleased and delighted I have been with the quality of the program and the success of the pilot program in the state of Virginia. I am also pleased that EIE is replicating the success of the Virginia pilot in new states across the country.

I also want to pass along my congratulations to you and the EIE staff for your tireless efforts to bring this vital safety message to parents, teachers and other child caregivers through state-based initiatives that have included other partners such as the Virginia PTA. The Internet Safety 101 program has demonstrated EIE's continued dedication to innovative and effective strategies to confront the dangers of online pornography, child stalking, sexual predation and other online threats.

Through the foresight and leadership of EIE, Internet Safety 101 has established itself as the benchmark for all Internet Safety programs. The program was thoughtfully and professionally designed to educate and empower parents, teachers, law enforcement, and other caring adults. It also was developed in a format that is accessible to everyone and highly relevant to the dangers our children face online.

Verizon is proud to be a partner of EIE's efforts to protect the innocence of our children, and we will continue to support programs such as Internet Safety 101: Empowering Parents that make the Internet a safer place for children and families.

Sincerely,
